WEST END BUYS
UNIONVILLE MINE

Another mining deal that means a great deal to the Unionville section is the taking over of D. C. Adamson's property in that camp by the West End Consolidated Mining company, one of the largest operating companies in Nevada. The property in question consists of the Black Metal group of eight claims, situated about one mile north of the famous Arizona mine and adjoins the Bush property.

The ledge, which is very large, is a fissure vein in rhyolite. The ore as proven in a number of surface workings carries high milling values in gold and silver, with the yellow metal predominating.

Already a contract has been let for a development tunnel to penetrate the vein system, this work starting last Monday. This bore as preliminary work will cut the vein at a depth of over 80 feet.

The West End Consolidated Mining company is one of the branches of the old Borax Smith organization of California and is now actively at work in both California and Nevada. The principal estate in this state is the West End property at Tonopah, which is one of the big producers in that camp—Humboldt Star.
